Names not in any Particular order exchange4media unveiled the “Top 100 Influential Game Changers” list in an extravagant ceremony at Hotel Shangri La, New Delhi, on Thursday.

The list features the names of Top 50 PR Professionals (male and female) and 50 Corporate Communication Professionals (male and female). It is a compilation of the most influential public relations and corporate communication professionals who have changed the dynamics of the industry through their work, vision, leadership skills and clout.

exchange4media's editorial team went through a robust internal auditing process and shortlisted the top 100 among the 200+ nominations received.

The jurors had a tough time choosing the winners of the list who have led the path in the communication industry and are PR models in their respective areas of expertise.

exchange4media looks forward to launching more such initiatives to recognise the dignitaries in the communication industry.

Here is the final list. The names are listed in alphabetical order – the list has no ranking.
